

FIRES MENACE RANGE TOWNS

Cities in Northern Minnesota Again in Danger.

ARE SURROUNDED BY FLAMES

Hibbing, Buhl and Nashauk Threatened With Destruction—Town of Snowball Completely Destroyed by a Fire That Came Upon It Suddenly.

Duluth, Sept. 8.—The Mesaba range is again threatened with the fire horror which swept away Chisholm and wiped out thousands of acres of standing timber. After a day of quiet, the flames which died down Sunday, were fanned into renewed fury again and are sweeping on toward Hibbing, Buhl and Nashauk from the south.

The town of Snowball, 100 inhabitants, was completely destroyed by a fire that came upon it suddenly. The people had no opportunity to fight the flames and fled in terror to the nearest locations. Snowball is about two miles from Nashauk.

Brooklyn, a small suburb of Hibbing, is threatened by fire, and if this portion of the town catches, the rest is doomed. Buhl and Nashauk, which were threatened with destruction Saturday, are again in danger and the flames are creeping slowly toward them. The citizens are fighting the onrushing flames desperately.

Aurora is entirely surrounded by forest fires and the citizens are fighting the flames. The town is believed to be safe unless a strong wind should arise.

Mitchell, a small town about one mile southeast of Hibbing, was threatened with destruction all day and was saved only by heroic efforts of the inhabitants and the employees of the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern railway, whose roundhouse is situated there. Several hundred men are still guarding the place. The pine timber which surrounds Mitchell has been almost entirely consumed.

Continuous Line of Fire.

Between Nashauk and Hibbing, a region twenty-two miles long, the forests are one continuous line of flames. From Hibbing it is an appalling sight and big clouds of smoke have been pouring over the threatened city all day, hiding the sun as though the sky was overcast with rainclouds.

Northwest of Hibbing the flames have spread over a wide area of cut-over timber and the burning district is increasing rapidly. Between Chisholm and Buhl, a distance of eight miles, there are many small fires, which threaten hourly to be fanned into conflagrations. Small fires are blazing north of Virginia, but that town is not endangered.

Hibbing people are watching the progress of the fire to the south with anxious eyes. They are conscious of the fact that if the little suburb of Brooklyn burns, their own city, the metropolis of the range, will also go up in smoke. Brooklyn is about a half a mile south of the residence section of the city. A Great Northern railway spur from Brooklyn to Kelly's lake is the only barrier to the flames that are raging on the outskirts of the suburbs. If the fiery wall jumps this track and is fanned into the houses of Brooklyn nothing but a deluge of rain can save the big town of Hibbing just beyond.

Weather reports are discouraging in the matter of prospective rainfall. No promise of rain could be made by the local forecaster. Without rain the forest fires, which are increasing throughout the northern part of the state, will continue to spread and will menace millions of dollars' worth of standing timber and scores of small towns, settlements and farms scattered throughout the timber district.

Fire Area Now Is Larger.

Reports from the range district state that the fire menace is almost as great as Saturday when the flames destroyed Chisholm. The fire area is larger and most of the towns are completely surrounded. Should a strong wind from any direction spring up before rain comes, untold damage will be caused.

Fire raged fiercely all day in the old mill site location on the opposite side of Longyear lake at Chisholm. The mill had not been used for some time and several feet of sawdust and pine slabs had accumulated there. After hours of hard work, which was participated in by practically the entire relief party on the grounds of the range city, the flames were checked. Pumps from the Shenango mine were pressed into service.

Peter McCarthy of Hibbing employed a force of fifty men to fight a fierce fire west of town, which was threatening 3,000 cords of wood belonging to him, which was saved. John McHale lost 1,000 cords of wood in the Saturday fire but saved another pile of equal size after strenuous efforts.

It was persistently rumored that a man had been shot during the Chisholm fire for looting the burning structures. The police and the Chisholm authorities deny any knowledge of the affair. Witnesses of the fire say that a man supposed to be a Montenegrin miner put off on Longyear lake in a boat filled with plunder and that a number of citizen guards which had been hastily organized and armed to prevent looting, ordered him to stop. They fired several shots into the air to stop the man, it is claimed, but when he persisted in rowing away from shore one of the citizens took a rifle and shot him. The boat was left to drift on the lake, freighted with the corpse of the ghoul, and those who gave credence to the story believe the boat and its contents were consumed by the flames that wrapped the shore of the lake during the evening.

The militia arrested eleven more looters, making a total of 90 who are in custody of the police. They will be bound over to the grand jury.

In a shack at the Shenango mine location near the ruined city of Chisholm, several wagon loads of plunder from the town were found by the militia. Most of the goods consisted of trunks that had been carried out of the residences hastily by the terror-stricken inhabitants when the first alarm of fire spread over the place.

This property was all abandoned in the flight and the looters quickly availed themselves of the confusion to cart it away.

BILLY PAPKE WINS BLOODY BATTLE

Illinois Pugilist Knocks Out Stanley Ketchell.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 8.—Stanley Ketchell of Michigan, former middleweight champion of the world, was knocked out in the twelfth round at Jeffries' Vernon arena by Billy Papke of Illinois, who is now middleweight champion of the world.

It was a case of the Illinois "thunderbolt" against a Michigan "killer," and the thunderbolt won.

Both men entered the ring in apparent perfect condition and neither had ever been knocked out. Ketchell had a decision over Papke in a previous ten-round bout.

Both men are as clean-looking prizefighters as anyone sees, but the bout ended as one of the bloodiest in ring history.

When Ketchell entered the ring he wore the air of an undefeated conqueror and was plainly the great favorite of the crowd, which had been betting on him at 2 to 1. When Papke entered he walked blithely to Ketchell's corner and greeted him with a handshake and a cordial smile, but when James J. Jeffries, the referee, called time and Ketchell walked to the center, extending his hand for the shake, Papke ignored the hand and sailed into the Michigan man with the fierce impetuosity which entitled him to be called "the thunderbolt." The fight was practically over a minute and twenty seconds after the gong sounded. From that time on it was merely a question as to how long Ketchell would last. Papke tore into Ketchell with such fury that the undefeated champion was simply lifted off his feet four times within the next minute. Papke knocked Ketchell to the mat for the count and from his first knockdown Ketchell never really recovered his form. He was a defeated man, dazed, bleeding, staggering from twenty blows in the face, and yet he came back and stayed with a terrible determination, and for at least three rounds held his own with the victorious challenger.

When Ketchell was finally knocked out, after having been saved by the gong several times after being knocked through the ropes, Papke was almost as strong as when he entered the ring. When Ketchell was carried to his dressing room after the final blow, both eyes were swollen into great black puffs and completely closed. His lips were cut and swollen to several times their normal size.

Seven Hurt in Auto Accident.

Denver, Sept. 8.—During the Rocky Mountain endurance automobile race over a 290-mile course, a 30-horsepower car driven by A. B. Clow ran into a telegraph post, throwing the occupants out of the car and injuring Albion Ingersoll, the mechanician. The car dashed on, colliding with a buggy filled with women and children. Six persons were hurt.

CRANK AFTER THE PRESIDENT

Armed Man Caught Near the Roosevelt Home.

CLAIMED HE WAS AN OFFICER

Disarmed After a Struggle With Secret Service Agents and Placed in Jail—Will Be Examined as to His Sanity.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A crank armed with an antiquated "bull dog" revolver was caught near the president's house at Sagamore Hill by the secret guards. The man described himself as John Coughlin, a detective, and when stopped by the secret service men presented a card upon which was inscribed his name and the word "officer." He said that he had come to ask the president to order out 10,000 troops to watch yegmen who had been terrorizing Boston. Coughlin walked the three miles from the station to Sagamore Hill.

One of the rules for visitors at Sagamore Hill is that no one shall come on foot, so when Secret Service Agent Adams caught sight of Coughlin he guessed that something was wrong. In response to the secret service man's demand as to his business, Coughlin produced his card and explained in the most casual way that he had come to confer with President Roosevelt concerning the recent outrages by yegmen in Boston and to lead back such troops as the president thought it fit to order out.

The secret service man tried to explain that the president was not seeing visitors at the moment, hoping to get him quietly out of the grounds. Coughlin hesitated a moment and then slid his hand toward the back pocket of his trousers. Adams grappled with him without further parley. Coughlin struggled for a moment, but Adams had no difficulty in holding him until Agent James Sloan, Jr., came to his assistance. Sloan searched the prisoner and found in his hip pocket a 32-caliber revolver of the "bull dog" type. The weapon was not loaded.

The slight struggle near the tennis court had not been observed at the house and the secret service men without alarming the president's family called one of the government automobiles and carried Coughlin down to the Oyster Bay town hall, where he was arraigned on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and committed to the county jail at Mineola. During his detention at the county jail Coughlin will be examined as to his sanity.

CLOSE CALL FOR KNOX.

Pennsylvania Senator in an Auto Accident in Switzerland.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 8.—Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania had a narrow escape from serious injury while returning from Evian-Bains to Geneva by automobile. Senator Knox was accompanied by his son and the latter also escaped with a few bruises and torn clothes.

The mishap occurred while the automobile was proceeding along a narrow road at a good rate of speed. Passing over a soft spot the machine skidded and ran over the bank into a deep ditch. Senator Knox was practically unhurt and his son, who managed to jump from the car, was only slightly bruised about the arms and shoulders.

The automobile was badly damaged. Senator Knox, who has been forced to temporarily abandon his automobile tour, left here for Basel.

FOUR PERSONS PERISH.

Three Men and a Woman Burned to Death in Fire of Incendiary Origin.

New York, Sept. 8.—Four persons, believed to have been members of a group of employees working overtime, were burned to death in a fire, supposedly incendiary, which destroyed a seven-story factory building on Water street. The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were found after the fire had been extinguished. Three of the victims were men and the fourth a woman. None has been identified.

Incident to the fire were rescues of nearly a score of workers who were removed from the fifth floor by means of ladders after the flames had cut off their escape and the collapse of the sixth floor, carrying with it and slightly injuring two firemen.

Troops Fighting Fire.

Sturgis, S. D., Sept. 8.—Three troops of the Fourth cavalry, stationed at Fort Meade, have been sent out to fight a forest fire which threatens the large preserves of the Homestake Mining company south of here. Reports received here indicate that more than a score of forest fires are burning in the Black Hills.

LABOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Democratic Candidate Cheered by Crowds in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Organized labor paid tribute to William J. Bryan. Although it was Labor day, it soon became manifest that the workers had surrendered their privilege and made it Bryan day. Within an hour after his arrival in the city, the Democratic candidate for president, standing on the balcony of the Auditorium hotel, received the plaudits of thousands of toilers as they marched by in the monster labor parade. The air was rent with cheers and the enthusiasm was unbounded. Not infrequently the marchers halted before the presidential candidate, doffed their caps and gave three cheers "for our next president." Many thus more familiarly addressed him as "Bill" and "William." A mighty shout went up when he reached out his hands and caught a cigarmakers' union badge which one of that body threw to him from the street.

The pleasure which the ovation afforded Mr. Bryan was undisguised. He smiled continually, bowed and clapped his hands, always giving the women in the parade an equal share of applause.

So insistent for a speech was the crowd in front of the hotel that Mr. Bryan yielded. In the course of a brief address he paid tribute to labor, and said he believed in the observance of Labor day, because he thought "we all ought to strive to assist in dignifying in every possible way the honest toil upon which our nation properly rests."

But this was only one feature of the visit of the Democratic candidate. Following the parade, he was whisked away in an automobile to the Iroquois club in company with and followed by many labor leaders. There luncheon was served and he made a short speech. Luncheon concluded, Mr. Bryan was conducted to Forest Park, several miles away, where he was scheduled to deliver a Labor day address. There a multitude awaited his coming. As he neared the park the word was passed around and he got another ovation as he came in sight. So eager was the crowd to catch a glimpse of and to hear him that they got beyond the control of the police, who were fairly swept off their feet. Mr. Bryan himself had to struggle to make headway to the pavilion.

Without any preliminaries, President John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor introduced Mr. Bryan, who, because of the cheers he received, stood for several minutes at the front of the pavilion before he began his speech on the abuse of the injunction in labor disputes. The speech was practically duplicated at Brand's park an hour afterward, where the Electrical Workers were holding forth.

From the moment the presidential candidate arrived here until he retired for the night, he was in charge of the labor leaders.

Opens Campaign Against Cannon.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, opened his campaign against the re-election of Joseph G. Cannon as a member of the national house of representatives when he spoke at the Labor day celebration in this city. Mr. Gompers spoke to a crowd of about 1,000 people.

SAVES MOTHER AND CHILD

But Brooklyn Man Loses His Own Life in Doing So.

New York, Sept. 8.—Though badly burned, John Tuck, a retired real estate dealer, returned to a burning apartment in Brooklyn for a missing child and saved it, but at the expense of his own life. He had already rescued the mother, Mrs. William Clampel, using his coat to protect her as he carried her down the stairs. She cried for her child when the street was reached. Disregarding his own injuries, Tuck hurried back and safely brought the infant out of the house. On his second trip he was unable to prevent his own clothing from taking fire. When he laid the child in its mother's arms he collapsed and died. Neither Mrs. Clampel nor her child received serious injuries.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Prominent St. Paul Man Is Crushed to Death.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—Paris Fletcher of the real estate firm of Clarke & Fletcher was killed and Mrs. Fletcher was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Minnetka, Wabasha county, about sixteen miles from Winona.

The accident occurred at the bottom of a steep hill a mile out of Minnetka. The machine overturned and Mr. Fletcher was pinned under it, being crushed across the abdomen.

Mr. Fletcher was one of the best known men in the business and social circles of this city. He had lived here for about twenty-two years, during which time he had been in business as a real estate dealer and as manager of estates. He was forty-three years of age.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT AT STAPLES

Sleeper Mahtowa on N. P. Train
No. 14 Completely Destroyed
by Fire

ONE WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

Several Others Had Great Difficulty in Escaping From
Burning Car

The sleeping car Mahtowa, on N. P. train No. 14 was totally destroyed by fire at Staples this morning, and as a result one woman lost her life and several other persons had very narrow escapes from a like fate.

From Staples we learn the following facts:

"The sleeper came in on No. 4 which was two hours late, arriving at 4:50. With another sleeper at its rear the car had just been coupled onto No. 14, when fire was discovered near the center of the coach and it was soon a mass of flames. The porter was busy in the front end of the car and did not notice it at once. There was no time to do anything for the entire car seemed to ignite instantly and it was a miracle that anyone got out without being burned more or less.

"There were in the car who happened to be away from the fire, and one of these, a strong, cool-headed traveling man, said the heat was so intense and the smoke so thick that it simply made him crazy but he fell out into the aisle and crawled to the door.

The woman who was burned to death was found in a seat lying as if she had been asleep and never knew of the fire. The porter stated that she had been in a berth and had evidently started for the door. From papers found where she had been, her name appears to be Mrs. Gibbs, from Esmond, N. D., and was bound for Brainerd. She was burned beyond recognition. The porter did all he could and thought he had everybody out, and no blame is attached to anyone.

"No possible cause can be given for the fire unless the burned woman had struck a match in her berth. A day coach was also badly burned, as was also the rear end of another attached to it, and the rear sleeper was badly damaged both by fire and water. A switch engine was hitched to the sleeper and it was hauled away before any damage was done to the depot."

Among those who were on the car, were Conductor and Mrs. John O'Brien, well known in this city. They had gone to sleep in the car and Mrs. O'Brien only escaped with her night clothes on, all her clothes and baggage being burned. She wired Mrs. M. J. Reilly, of this city, with whom she had been visiting, of her plight, and Mrs. Reilly met the train in this city with suitable garments for the unfortunate lady, who only had a cravenette to cover her night clothes.

Osborne-Turner

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Turner, two miles northwest of the city, at 8 p. m., Saturday, their daughter Myrtle was united in marriage to Noah Osborne, formerly of this city, but now from Minneapolis.

The ceremony was attended by members of the family and a few intimate friends. Rev. J. E. Abrahamson officiated, using a simple ring service.

The house was tastily decorated with autumn leaves and golden rods for the event. The bride wore white, the groom the conventional black.

After visiting Chicago and points in Illinois, the young people will make their home in Minneapolis. Both the contracting parties are well and favorably known in Brainerd, and they carry with them the well wishes of a host of friends.

Five Strong Reasons

Why painting in the fall is best

1. In the fall, the surface is thoroughly dry. During the spring a surface which needs repainting is sure to contain moisture and dampness or frost, and it cannot be successfully painted until it has thoroughly dried out.

2. When the wood is dry, it absorbs more of the paint; the paint penetrates deeper into the wood, therefore gets a firmer hold on it, giving the paint coating greater tenacity for holding qualities.

3. Paint cannot be as successfully applied in damp, cloudy or unsettled weather as in warm, sunny weather. In the fall the weather is more settled and uniform and is warmer, therefore it is an excellent time for painting.

4. A house needs its protective coat of paint more in the winter months than at any other time. A house in need of painting should never be allowed to go over the winter without this protection.

5. It is easier to keep the winter's moisture and dampness out by applying a coat of paint in the fall, when the surface is dry, than it is to get moisture or dampness out of the wood if you want to apply a coat of paint in the spring.

THE LABOR

DAY PARADE

A Large Crowd on Hand to See
Workers on Line of March

MAKE IMPOSING APPEARANCE

Judge Stanton, of Bemidji, and
Morris Kaplan, of Duluth
Deliver Addresses

Labor Day was duly celebrated in this city yesterday, the excellent weather adding much to march, music and exercises generally, and the immense crowds on street curb and corner, of men women and children, lent an attractiveness that made it doubly interesting.

The column was formed for the parade on Third and Kindred streets at 9 o'clock a. m., proceeded west to Kingwood, thence west on Kingwood to Broadway, south on Broadway to Laurel, west on Laurel to Sixth, north on Sixth to Kingwood, where the speakers' stand had been placed for the orators to address the crowd.

The crowd in the line of march was not as large as in former years for some reason or other, many being of the impression that prizes which had been offered in previous years had had much to do in swelling the numbers, but not being in the arrangements this year had depleted the ranks which was in evidence yesterday. Those who were in the parade, however, made a fine and imposing appearance. The two hundred who were in the march were composed of machinists, moulders and helpers, with a beautifully decorated float drawn by four horses containing about 40 merry maidens carrying the banner of the Iron Moulders Union. This with a small float advertising Brainerd's new milling industry, "Roman Flour," constituted the parade. The Brainerd Juvenile band led the parade playing some very fine march music.

The addresses of the day were of high order, and as expected, made quite a contrast. After a few preliminary remarks, the chairman, R. A. Henning, introduced the first speaker, Judge C. W. Stanton, of Bemidji, who in fine voice delivered a most judicial address showing much thought and an excellent understanding of law, labor and capital, and the applause given by the large crowd proved conclusively that his arguments went home to the heads and hearts of his hearers. He said in part: "I am not unmindful of the significance of this day and of its importance to the laboring people of this country; and I assure you that I keenly appreciate the privilege and the honor of participating with you in its proper observance, and, my friends, I am especially gratified at your kind invitation to address you today because of the official position which it is my honor to hold and because of the assurance which your invitation to me silently gives that you welcome a discussion of the questions that are uppermost in your minds, by one who is not a member of any labor organization.

"While it has always been my lot to be a laborer—first on the farm and in various capacities as a manual worker and later in my profession—my occupation has never been such as to bring me into close association with union labor. My knowledge, therefore, of labor organizations—their history, their objects and their attainments—has been acquired by observation and study, rather than by personal experience.

"America is a nation of workers. Our mines, soil forests and waterways have been developed to a degree that elicits wonder; our manufacturing and business enterprises have amazed commercial nations already alarmed by the rapid expansion of our foreign trade; our professional genius has attracted world wide admiration; the American artisan has surpassed those of every other country by attaining the highest standard of skill—and all because we are a nation of ambitious, determined, intelligent workers.

"But our contemplation of the expansive field of labor and of its importance as a factor in the development of this great nation is unsatisfactory and is not complete until we take into consideration and stop to comprehend the prominent part taken by organized labor, at least in recent years."

The speaker then traced the history of organized labor, from its birth in 1741 to the present day of universal organization. He then enumerated the many benefits that have sprung from organization, such as shorter hours, increased wages, better sanitary conditions of mills, factories, etc.

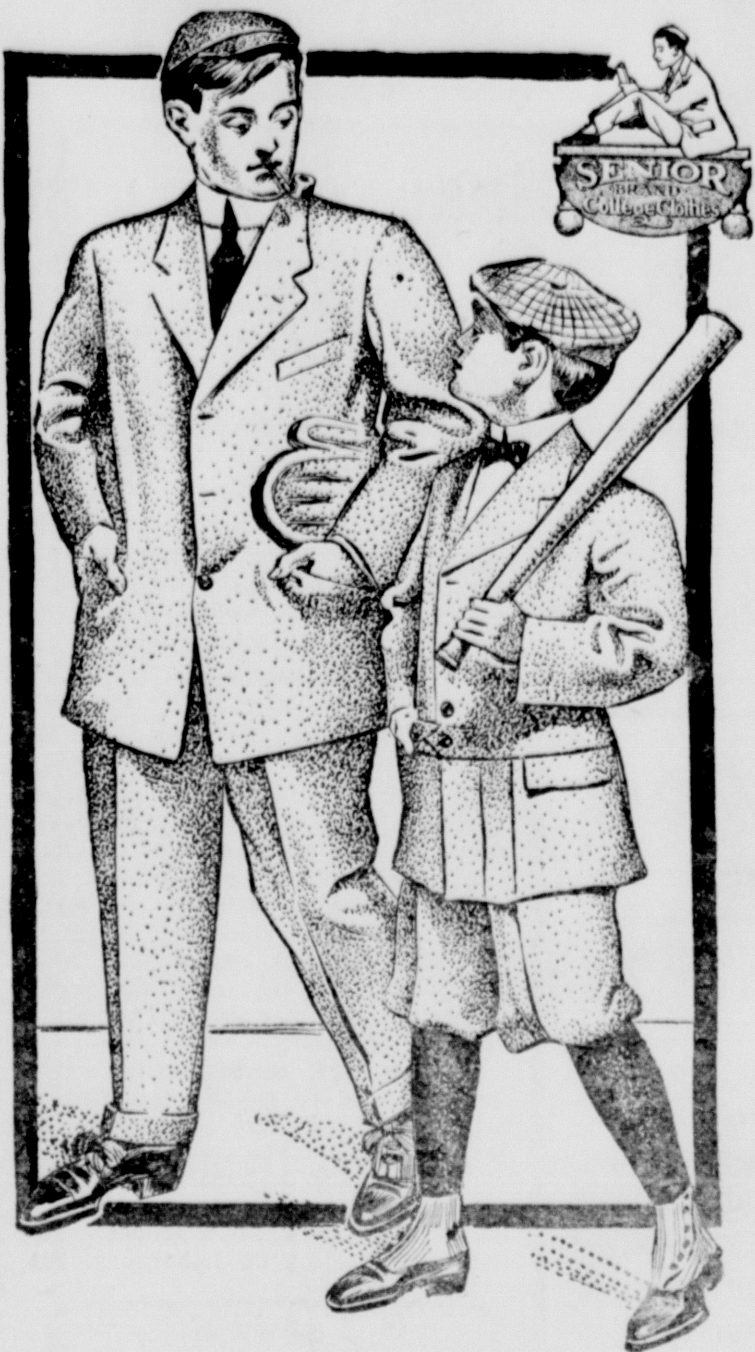

Concerning the rights of organized labor, he said:

"It is now well settled in this country and in England, that a person has the right to work for or with whom he pleases; that he may refuse to work for or with whom he pleases; that he may refuse to work for or deal with any man or class of men, as he sees fit; and that what he may legally do alone, he may combine with others to do.

"Legislatures, as well as the courts, now recognize the right of laboring people to organize for the purpose of promoting their common welfare, elevating their standard of skill, advancing and maintaining their wages, fixing the hours of labor and the rate of wages, and to do and refrain from doing many things that combine to enlarge and make more enjoyable the sphere of the working man, and I have no doubt, my friends, that many of these enactments have been brought about by the efforts of laboring men through their organizations."

Bijou

The program at this popular place of amusement this week is excellent, the strong feature in the living pictures, is "An Indian's Honor" 1500 feet in length. All the characters of this production are those familiar with western life, who interest and hold the audience from start to finish. This picture is not the only strong feature, the work of Cooke and Myers "The Acrobatic Dutchman and the Dancing Girl" are making a decided hit. Speed and noise are the two essentials of Cooke and Myers entertainment. No more gingers or snappy pair have been seen here for some time, in fact the entertainment must be seen to be appreciated and will be repeated tonight and Wednesday.

At the Unique

The amusement public was entertained by a very pleasant program at the Unique yesterday afternoon and evening. The headliner, "Dieppe Circuit Race" is a film 1,250 feet long, showing an exciting auto race. It is indeed thrilling to see the autos go at top speed around sharp curves such as the hairpin curve on the Vanderbilt circuit. Other films were "A Tragedy in Japan" taken from real life, and "A Husband Wanted," a comedy film. "The Last Voyage" is the illustrated song, and is sweetly sung by Miss Graham.

A Mighty Eruption.

It has been calculated that the quantity of solid matter ejected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in the strait of Sunda, in August, 1883, was 4.14 cubic miles. To give some idea of the enormous volume this represents we may take the following illustration: The largest of the pyramids of Egypt, known as the Great Pyramid, contains about 82,000,000 cubic feet of masonry. It would therefore take about 7,360 of such structures to equal in bulk the matter that was thrown out by this eruption.—New York American.

FIGHT ENDS IN A DRAW.

Moran and Attel Unable to Settle Question of Supremacy.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—Abe Attel, the champion featherweight of America, and Owen Moran, England's premier boxer in the same division, fought a draw battle at the Colma open air arena in the presence of about 6,000 spectators. The battle lasted twenty-three rounds and at its conclusion Referee Jack Welsh unhesitatingly grasped both lads by the hand, signifying that the fight was a draw. The decision seemed to please the crowd and there were cheers for each fighter as he wended his way from the ringside. The fight, on the whole, was rather tame, but this was offset by the cleverness of both fighters. It was a very even one and was marked by Moran's aggressiveness and Attel's cleverness in blocking and his all-round work from a defense standpoint. The consensus of opinion would seem to indicate, however, that the Californian did not show his best form of former contests, and that he lacks the dazzling speed which has made him a marvel of cleverness.

After the fight Owen Moran declared: "I broke my right hand in the second round. After that it was almost useless. At that I think I won by a mile. I am willing to fight Attel forty-five rounds, winner to take all."

An examination showed Moran's hand to be badly swollen.

"What caused that awkward break in the conversation?"
"Some one dropped the subject,"—Argonaut.

Twitching of the Nerves

Tapping of the fingers, restlessness, sleeplessness, inability to control the nerves.

What a story of exhausted nerves is told by these symptoms. Nervous prostration and paralysis are not far away unless restorative treatment is used.

The writer of this letter was fortunate enough to learn about Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and tells his experience for the benefit of other sufferers from diseases of the nerves.

Mr. I. W. OAKLEY, Montrose, Pa. writes:—"I was troubled with nervous exhaustion for several years and was so nervous I could not lie in bed but would walk the floor and my nerves would draw and twitch until I was almost wild. I tried all sorts of medicines in vain until I used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. Six boxes cured me and the old trouble never returned I am very grateful to say."

THE RED FLAG OF ANARCHY RAISED

New York, Sept. 8.—An attempt was made to turn a meeting of unemployed workmen into an anarchistic demonstration and for half an hour the meeting hall in Cooper Union, where the meeting took place, was the scene of wild excitement, during which red flags were raised, the police denounced and incendiary speeches made. Alexander Berkman, the anarchist who some years ago shot Henry C. Frick, a steel company official, during the Homestead strike in Pennsylvania, was dragged from the hall and locked up by the police. A young woman who gave her name as "Mary Smith" and who stood by Berkman, was also arrested, and Emma Goldman, recognized leader of the "reds" in this country, was made to leave the hall.

J. Eads How of St. Louis, sometimes alluded to as the "millionaire hobo," planned the demonstration. He and other officers of the Unemployed and Brotherhood Welfare association had for some time been making arrangements for a monster parade and meeting on Labor day, but when the parade formed there were less than 1,000 in line. The police say they recognized many anarchists in line, among them some who attended the meeting in Union square last spring, when a bomb was thrown at the police which killed a spectator and fatally wounded the bomb-thrower himself.

Had the Marseillaise Played.

As the parade drew up in front of Cooper Union a well dressed man stepped to the side of Mr. How and asked him to have the band play the Marseillaise. Mr. How referred the man to the leader of the band. As the air was not on the programme the man gave the leader $1 to play it.

It was the playing of this air, identified in past times with so much bloodshed, that started the trouble. As soon as the crowd had gathered in the hall the band began to play the Marseillaise and in an instant nearly everyone jumped to his feet, cheering and stamping on the floor. Red flags appeared, but the police quickly made the holders of these put them away.

Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman entered the hall at this juncture and took seats near the platform. Dr. Ben Reitman of Minneapolis, who calls himself "King of the Hoboes," and who was one of the first speakers, announced that his speech had been written by Emma Goldman. This brought forth cheering. Dr. Reitman urged the unemployed to cease submitting to labor. He denounced institutions and said there should be fewer thousands expended in the maintenance of churches and the police and the money should be expended in caring for the unemployed.

Charles Oberwager, a former president of the Central Federated union, was next introduced. He denounced the preceding speaker, declaring Dr. Reitman had preached the doctrines of anarchy. This caused an outburst and Berkman sprang to his feet and demanded to be allowed to take the platform to defend the anarchistic doctrines in which he believes. Policemen swarmed through the hall and ordered the disturbers to be quiet, while several bluecoats surrounded Berkman. Emma Goldman tried to reach his side, but she was stopped and told to leave the hall or she would be arrested. She obeyed. Then "Mary Smith" fought her way to Berkman's side and urged him to take the platform. Berkman tried to do this and was arrested. The crowd closed in about the policemen and for a moment it looked as though a rescue might be attempted, but Berkman said nothing to urge his followers on. "Mary Smith" and Berkman were taken to a police station, where they were locked up charged with disorderly conduct and inciting a riot.

"In a battle of tongues between man and wife I find that a woman can generally hold her own."

"Yes, but she never does."

TAFT BEGINS HIS JOURNEY

Republican Candidate Starts on a Tour of Ohio.

Sandusky, O., Sept. 8.—William H. Taft has begun his journey from the fishing grounds of Middle Bass Island to the activities of his campaign at Cincinnati, where he will arrive after a speechmaking trip through the state. The Taft family is quartered at the home of Edward H. Marsh, a college friend of the candidate. The feature of the day, which was one of varied travel by boat, automobile and trolley, was the visit to the home and tomb of the late President Rutherford B. Hayes at Spiegel Grove, near Fremont. Here the party were the guests of Colonel Webb Hayes, who was assisted in entertaining by his sister, Mrs. Fannie Hayes Smith, and her husband, Professor Smith of the United States naval academy; Burchard A. Hayes, oldest son of President and Mrs. Hayes, and other members of the family and friends.

When the candidate landed he was heartily received by the residents of Port Clinton, where he made a very brief address from the deck of Commodore Richardson's yacht Jessamine on which the sail was made from the Middle Bass club.

The importance politically of the meeting to be held in the theater here has been accentuated by the assurance received here that former Governor Herrick will speak on the subject of the guarantee of bank deposits by the government, on which he takes the ground that such guarantees would be another form of monopoly. General Keifer will also speak at this meeting on the subject of the tariff, and General Henry C. Corbin is also scheduled for remarks.

Judge Taft will address the old soldiers in a historical speech here.

FRENCH FORCE DEFEATS ARABS

Hundreds of the Tribesmen Are Killed in Battle.

Colomb-Bechar, Sept. 8.—Dispatches received here from Colonel Allix, the commander of the reinforcements that went to the relief of Boudenhb, a French post on the Algerian frontier, where the small garrison was surrounded by Moors and in danger of annihilation, state that he has completely crushed the Beraber tribesmen, estimated at from 15,000 to 20,000, capturing their camp and all equipment.

The column of 5,000 men under Colonel Allix marched out from Boudenhb in the direction of the enemy's camp at Djorf. When half the distance had been traversed, the French encountered the Arabs, who with reckless courage hurled themselves upon the front and flanks simultaneously, seeking to cut off Boudenhb, but the artillery kept up a terrible fire. In the face of which the Arabs were unable to approach to close quarters.

They returned again and again to the charge, leaving their dead in heaps, but finally became discouraged and retired. Colonel Allix followed up his advantage and occupied the camp, completely routing the enemy, who dispersed in all directions, hotly pursued by the French cavalry. The total French loss was Lieutenant Schwartz of the Third sharpshooters and twenty-one others wounded, of whom only three were seriously hurt. The enemy's loss totals far into the hundreds.

PLAN TO AID WORKMEN

New Compensation Law That Affects Government Employees.

FOR BENEFIT OF INJURED MEN

About Seventy-five Thousand Come Within the Provisions of the Edict. Its Administration Is in Hands of Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

The act of May 30, 1908, "granting to certain employees of the United States the right to receive from it compensation for injuries sustained in the course of their employment," which came into effect on Aug. 1, is a measure of great importance in the domain of labor legislation.

Under previous laws compensation in case of injury is paid to employees in the railway mail service and in the life saving service. The new law applies to persons employed by the government as artisans or laborers in the following services: Armies, navy yards, river and harbor construction, fortification construction, hazardous employment in the reclamation service—namely, in construction and in control and management of works; hazardous employment under the isthmian canal commission and in government manufacturing establishments.

According to a rough estimate made by the department of commerce and labor, about 75,000 government employees come within the provisions of the law. Compensation will be paid under this act only for such injuries as an employee as occur in the course of his employment and cause inability to pursue his employment for more than fifteen days, says the New York Post. Compensation will not be paid if the injury is due to the negligence or misconduct of the employee. The act applies only to injuries received on or after Aug. 1.

Compensation consists of a continuance during the period of disability, but not over one year, of the same pay which the employee was receiving at the time of the injury. If the employee is killed by the accident or dies from the results of the injury received and leaves a widow or children under sixteen years of age or dependent parents, the same amount of compensation is paid to these relatives until the completion of the twelve months' period.

The administration of the act is entrusted to the secretary of commerce and labor. All questions of negligence or misconduct are to be determined by him, and in case of death from injury the distribution of the compensation among dependent relatives must be made according to his orders.

No compensation will be paid either for injury or for death unless application for it is made. This application must be made by the injured employee or in case of death by his dependents and forwarded by the official superior of the injured employee, accompanied by a physician's certificate, through the regular official channels to the secretary of commerce and labor. The secretary is authorized to demand additional information or order such investigation as is necessary for the proper administration of the law.

Regulations have been prepared for the guidance of officials and employees in the government service. According to these regulations, reports of injuries must be made by the official superior of the employee to the secretary of commerce and labor not later than the second day after the accident. Application for compensation must be made as soon as possible after the first fifteen days of disability. If the application is approved, the compensation will be paid during disability, but for a period not exceeding six months, at the end of which period the injured person must make application for re-examination by a physician provided by the secretary, and after this examination has been reported a new approval by the secretary for further payment of compensation is necessary.

The records of the application of this act will furnish valuable material for statistics of accidents, which for the United States are meager. In order to make the statistics more complete and valuable, reports of all accidental injuries to government employees regardless of the application of the act have been requested from all government establishments and offices.

FIRES MENACE RANGE TOWNS

Cities in Northern Minnesota Again in Danger.

ARE SURROUNDED BY FLAMES

Hibbing, Buhl and Nashauk Threatened With Destruction—Town of Snowball Completely Destroyed by a Fire That Came Upon It Suddenly.

Duluth, Sept. 8.—The Mesaba range is again threatened with the fire horror which swept away Chisholm and wiped out thousands of acres of standing timber. After a day of quiet, the flames which died down Sunday, were fanned into renewed fury again and are sweeping on toward Hibbing, Buhl and Nashauk from the south.

The town of Snowball, 100 inhabitants, was completely destroyed by a fire that came upon it suddenly. The people had no opportunity to fight the flames and fled in terror to the nearest locations. Snowball is about two miles from Nashauk.

Brooklyn, a small suburb of Hibbing, is threatened by fire, and if this portion of the town catches, the rest is doomed. Buhl and Nashauk, which were threatened with destruction Saturday, are again in danger and the flames are creeping slowly toward them. The citizens are fighting the onrushing flames desperately.

Aurora is entirely surrounded by forest fires and the citizens are fighting the flames. The town is believed to be safe unless a strong wind should arise.

Mitchell, a small town about one mile southeast of Hibbing, was threatened with destruction all day and was saved only by heroic efforts of the inhabitants and the employees of the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern railway, whose roundhouse is situated there. Several hundred men are still guarding the place. The pine timber which surrounds Mitchell has been almost entirely consumed.

Continuous Line of Fire.

Between Nashauk and Hibbing, a region twenty-two miles long, the forests are one continuous line of flames. From Hibbing it is an appalling sight and big clouds of smoke have been pouring over the threatened city all day, hiding the sun as though the sky was overcast with rainclouds.

Northwest of Hibbing the flames have spread over a wide area of cut-over timber and the burning district is increasing rapidly. Between Chisholm and Buhl, a distance of eight miles, there are many small fires, which threaten hourly to be fanned into conflagrations. Small fires are blazing north of Virginia, but that town is not endangered.

Hibbing people are watching the progress of the fire to the south with anxious eyes. They are conscious of the fact that if the little suburb of Brooklyn burns, their own city, the metropolis of the range, will also go up in smoke. Brooklyn is about a half a mile south of the residence section of the city. A Great Northern railway spur from Brooklyn to Kelly's lake is the only barrier to the flames that are raging on the outskirts of the suburbs. If the fiery wall jumps this track and is fanned into the houses of Brooklyn nothing but a deluge of rain can save the big town of Hibbing just beyond.

Weather reports are discouraging in the matter of prospective rainfall. No promise of rain could be made by the local forecaster. Without rain the forest fires, which are increasing throughout the northern part of the state, will continue to spread and will menace millions of dollars' worth of standing timber and scores of small towns, settlements and farms scattered throughout the timber district.

Fire Area Now is Larger.

Reports from the range district state that the fire menace is almost as great as Saturday when the flames destroyed Chisholm. The fire area is larger and most of the towns are completely surrounded. Should a strong wind from any direction spring up before rain comes, untold damage will be caused.

Fire raged fiercely all day in the old mill site location on the opposite side of Longyear lake at Chisholm. The mill had not been used for some time and several feet of sawdust and pine slabs had accumulated there. After hours of hard work, which was participated in by practically the entire relief party on the grounds of the ruins city, the flames were checked. Pumps from the Shenango mine were pressed into service.

Peter McCarthy of Hibbing employed a force of fifty men to fight a fierce fire west of town, which was threatening 3,000 cords of wood belonging to him, which was saved. John McHale lost 1,000 cords of wood in the Saturday fire but saved another pile of equal size after strenuous efforts.

It was persistently rumored that a man had been shot during the Chisholm fire for looting the burning structures. The police and the Chisholm authorities deny any knowledge of the affair. Witnesses of the fire say that a man supposed to be a Montenegrin miner put off on Longyear lake in a boat filled with plunder and that a number of citizen guards which had been hastily organized and armed to prevent looting, ordered him to stop. They fired several shots into the air to stop the man, it is claimed, but when he persisted in rowing away from shore one of the citizens took a rifle and shot him. The boat was left to drift on the lake, freighted with the corpse of the ghoul, and those who gave credence to the story believe the boat and its contents were consumed by the flames that wrapped the shore of the lake during the evening.

The militia arrested eleven more looters, making a total of 90 who are in custody of the police. They will be bound over to the grand jury.

In a shack at the Shenango mine location near the ruined city of Chisholm, several wagon loads of plunder from the town were found by the militia. Most of the goods consisted of trunks that had been carried out of the residences hastily by the terror-stricken inhabitants when the first alarm of fire spread over the place.

This property was all abandoned in the flight and the looters quickly availed themselves of the confusion to cart it away.

BILLY PAPKE WINS BLOODY BATTLE

Illinois Pugilist Knocks Out Stanley Ketchell.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 8.—Stanley Ketchell of Michigan, former middleweight champion of the world, was knocked out in the twelfth round at Jeffries' Vernon arena by Billy Papke of Illinois, who is now middleweight champion of the world.

It was a case of the Illinois "Thunderbolt" against a Michigan "killer," and the thunderbolt won.

Both men entered the ring in apparent perfect condition and neither had ever been knocked out. Ketchell had a decision over Papke in a previous ten-round bout.

Both men are as clean-looking prizefighters as anyone sees, but the bout ended as one of the bloodiest in ring history.

When Ketchell entered the ring he wore the air of an undefeated conqueror and was plainly the great favorite of the crowd, which had been betting on him at 2 to 1. When Papke entered he walked blithely to Ketchell's corner and greeted him with a handshake and a cordial smile, but when James J. Jeffries, the referee, called time and Ketchell walked to the center, extending his hand for the shake, Papke ignored the hand and sailed into the Michigan man with the fierce impetuosity which entitled him to be called "the thunderbolt." The fight was practically over a minute and twenty seconds after the gong sounded. From that time on it was merely a question as to how long Ketchell would last. Papke tore into Ketchell with such fury that the undefeated champion was simply lifted off his feet four times within the next minute. Papke knocked Ketchell to the mat for the count and from his first knockdown Ketchell never really recovered his form. He was a defeated man, dazed, bleeding, staggering from twenty blows in the face, and yet he came back and stayed with a terrible determination, and for at least three rounds held his own with the victorious challenger.

When Ketchell was finally knocked out, after having been saved by the gong several times after being knocked through the ropes, Papke was almost as strong as when he entered the ring. When Ketchell was carried to his dressing room after the final blow, both eyes were swollen into great black puffs and completely closed. His lips were cut and swollen to several times their normal size.

Seven Hurt in Auto Accident.

Denver, Sept. 8.—During the Rocky Mountain endurance automobile race over a 290-mile course, a 30-horsepower car driven by A. B. Clow ran into a telegraph post, throwing the occupants out of the car and injuring Albion Ingersoll, the mechanician. The car dashed on, colliding with a buggy filled with women and children. Six persons were hurt.

CRANK AFTER THE PRESIDENT

Armed Man Caught Near the Roosevelt Home.

CLAIMED HE WAS AN OFFICER

Disarmed After a Struggle With Secret Service Agents and Placed in Jail—Will Be Examined as to His Sanity.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A crank armed with an antiquated "bull dog" revolver was caught near the president's house at Sagamore Hill by the secret guards. The man described himself as John Coughlin, a detective, and when stopped by the secret service men presented a card upon which was inscribed his name and the word "officer." He said that he had come to ask the president to order out 10,000 troops to watch yeg-men who had been terrorizing Boston. Coughlin walked the three miles from the station to Sagamore Hill.

One of the rules for visitors at Sagamore Hill is that no one shall come on foot, so when Secret Service Agent Adams caught sight of Coughlin he guessed that something was wrong. In response to the secret service man's demand as to his business, Coughlin produced his card and explained in the most casual way that he had come to confer with President Roosevelt concerning the recent outrages by yeg-men in Boston and to lead back such troops as the president thought it fit to order out.

The secret service man tried to explain that the president was not seeing visitors at the moment, hoping to get him quietly out of the grounds. Coughlin hesitated a moment and then slid his hand toward the back pocket of his trousers. Adams grappled with his man without further parley. Coughlin struggled for a moment, but Adams had no difficulty in holding him until Agent James Sloan, Jr., came to his assistance. Sloan searched the prisoner and found in his hip pocket a .32-caliber revolver of the "bull dog" type. The weapon was not loaded.

The slight struggle near the tennis court had not been observed at the house and the secret service men without alarming the president's family called one of the government automobiles and carried Coughlin down to the Oyster Bay town hall, where he was arraigned on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and committed to the county jail at Mineola. During his detention at the county jail Coughlin will be examined as to his sanity.

CLOSE CALL FOR KNOX.

Pennsylvania Senator in an Auto Accident in Switzerland.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 8.—Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania had a narrow escape from serious injury while returning from Evian-les-Bains to Geneva by automobile. Senator Knox was accompanied by his son and the latter also escaped with a few bruises and torn clothes.

The mishap occurred while the automobile was proceeding along a narrow road at a good rate of speed. Passing over a soft spot the machine skidded and ran over the bank into a deep ditch. Senator Knox was practically unhurt and his son, who managed to jump from the car, was only slightly bruised about the arms and shoulders.

The automobile was badly damaged. Senator Knox, who has been forced to temporarily abandon his automobile tour, left here for Basle.

FOUR PERSONS PERISH.

Three Men and a Woman Burned to Death in Fire of Incendiary Origin.

New York, Sept. 8.—Four persons, believed to have been members of a group of employees working overtime, were burned to death in a fire, supposedly incendiary, which destroyed a seven-story factory building on Water street. The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were found after the fire had been extinguished. Three of the victims were men and the fourth a woman. None has been identified.

Incident to the fire were rescues of nearly a score of workmen who were removed from the fifth floor by means of ladders after the flames had cut off their escape and the collapse of the sixth floor, carrying with it and slightly injuring two firemen.

Troops Fighting Fire.

Sturgis, S. D., Sept. 8.—Three troops of the Fourth cavalry, stationed at Fort Meade, have been sent out to fight a forest fire which threatens the large preserves of the Homestead Mining company south of here. Reports received here indicate that more than a score of forest fires are burning in the Black Hills.

LABOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Democratic Candidate Cheered by Crowds in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Organized labor paid tribute to William J. Bryan. Although it was Labor day, it soon became manifest that the workers had surrendered their privilege and made it Bryan day. Within an hour after his arrival in the city, the Democratic candidate for president, standing on the balcony of the Auditorium hotel, received the plaudits of thousands of toilers as they marched by in the monster labor parade. The air was rent with cheers and the enthusiasm was unbounded. Not infrequently the marchers halted before the presidential candidate, doffed their caps and gave three cheers "for our next president." Many thus more familiarly addressed him as "Bill" and "William." A mighty shout went up when he reached out his hands and caught a cigarmakers' union badge which one of that body threw to him from the street.

The pleasure which the ovation afforded Mr. Bryan was undisguised. He smiled continually, bowed and clapped his hands, always giving the women in the parade an equal share of applause.

So insistent for a speech was the crowd in front of the hotel that Mr. Bryan yielded. In the course of a brief address he paid tribute to labor, and said he believed in the observance of Labor day, because he thought "we all ought to strive to assist in dignifying in every possible way the honest toil upon which our nation properly rests."

But this was only one feature of the visit of the Democratic candidate. Following the parade, he was whisked away in an automobile to the Iroquois club in company with and followed by many labor leaders. There luncheon was served and he made a short speech. Luncheon concluded, Mr. Bryan was conducted to Forest Park, several miles away, where he was scheduled to deliver a Labor day address. There a multitude awaited his coming. As he neared the park the word was passed around and he got another ovation as he came in sight. So eager was the crowd to catch a glimpse of and to hear him that they got beyond the control of the police, who were fairly swept off their feet. Mr. Bryan himself had to struggle to make headway to the pavilion. Without any preliminaries, President John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor introduced Mr. Bryan, who, because of the cheers he received, stood for several minutes at the front of the pavilion before he began his speech on the abuse of the injunction in labor disputes. The speech was practically duplicated at Brand's park an hour afterward, where the Electrical Workers were holding forth.

From the moment the presidential candidate arrived here until he retired for the night, he was in charge of the labor leaders.

Opens Campaign Against Cannon.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, opened his campaign against the re-election of Joseph G. Cannon as a member of the national house of representatives when he spoke at the Labor day celebration in this city. Mr. Gompers spoke to a crowd of about 1,000 people.

SAVES MOTHER AND CHILD

But Brooklyn Man Loses His Own Life in Doing So.

New York, Sept. 8.—Though badly burned, John Tuck, a retired real estate dealer, returned to a burning apartment in Brooklyn for a missing child and saved it, but at the expense of his own life. He had already rescued the mother, Mrs. William Clampel, using his coat to protect her as he carried her down the stairs. She cried for her child when the street was reached. Disregarding his own injuries, Tuck hurried back and safely brought the infant out of the house. On his second trip he was unable to prevent his own clothing from taking fire. When he laid the child in its mother's arms he collapsed and died. Neither Mrs. Clampel nor her child received serious injuries.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Prominent St. Paul Man Is Crushed to Death.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—Paris Fletcher of the real estate firm of Clarke & Fletcher was killed and Mrs. Fletcher was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Minneka, Wabasha county, about sixteen miles from Winona.

The accident occurred at the bottom of a steep hill a mile out of Minneka. The machine overturned and Mr. Fletcher was pinned under it, being crushed across the abdomen.

Mr. Fletcher was one of the best known men in the business and social circles of this city. He had lived here for about twenty-two years, during which time he had been in business as a real estate dealer and as manager of estates. He was forty-three years of age.

HOCKING ACCIDENT AT STAPLES
eeper Mahtowa on N. P. Train
No. 14 Completely Destroyed
by Fire

NE WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH
Several Others Had Great Difficulty in Escaping From
Burning Car

The sleeping car Mahtowa, on N. P. train No. 14 was totally destroyed by fire at Staples this morning, and as a result one woman lost her life and several other persons had very narrow escapes from a like fate.

From Staples we learn the following facts:

"The sleeper came in on No. 4 which was two hours late, arriving at 4:50. With another sleeper at its rear the car had just been coupled onto No. 14, when fire was discovered near the center of the coach and it was soon a mass of flames. The porter was busy in the front end of the car and did not notice at once. There was no time to do anything for the entire car seemed to ignite instantly and it was a miracle that anyone got out without being burned more or less.

"There were five in the car who happened to be away from the fire, and one of these, a strong, cool-headed traveling man, said the heat was so intense and the smoke so thick that it simply made him crazy but he fell out into the aisle and crawled to the door.

The woman who was burned to death was found in a seat lying as if she had been asleep and never knew of the fire. The porter stated that she had been in a berth and had evidently started for the door. From papers found where she had been, her name appears to be Mrs. Gibbs, from Esmond, N. D., and was bound for Brainerd. She was burned beyond recognition. The porter did all he could and thought he had everybody out, and no blame is attached to anyone.

"No possible cause can be given for the fire unless the burned woman had struck a match in her berth. A day coach was also badly burned, as was also the rear end of another attached to it, and the rear sleeper was badly damaged both by fire and water. A switch engine was hitched to the sleeper and it was hauled away before any damage was done to the depot."

Among those who were on the car, were Conductor and Mrs. John O'Brien, well known in this city. They had gone to sleep in the car and Mrs. O'Brien only escaped with her night clothes on, all her clothes and baggage being burned. She wired Mrs. M. J. Reilly, of this city, with whom she had been visiting, of her plight, and Mrs. Reilly met the train in this city with suitable garments for the unfortunate lady, who only had a cravenette to cover her night clothes.

Five Strong Reasons
Why painting in the fall is best

1. In the fall, the surface is thoroughly dry. During the spring a surface which needs repainting is sure to contain moisture and dampness or frost, and it cannot be successfully painted until it has thoroughly dried out.
2. When the wood is dry, it absorbs more of the paint; the paint penetrates deeper into the wood, therefore gets a firmer hold on it, giving the paint coating greater tenacity for holding qualities.
3. Paint cannot be as successfully applied in damp, cloudy or unsettled weather as in warm, sunny weather. In the fall the weather is more settled and uniform and is warmer, therefore it is an excellent time for painting.
4. A house needs its protective coat of paint more in the winter months than at any other time. A house in need of painting should never be allowed to go over the winter without this protection.
5. It is easier to keep the winter's moisture and dampness out by applying a coat of paint in the fall, when the surface is dry, than it is to get moisture or dampness out of the wood if you want to apply a coat of paint in the spring.

Osborne-Turner
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Turner, two miles northwest of the city, at 8 p. m., Saturday, their daughter Myrtle was united in marriage to Noah Osborne, formerly of this city, but now from Minneapolis.
The ceremony was attended by members of the family and a few intimate friends. Rev. J. E. Abrahamson officiated, using a simple ring service.
The house was tastily decorated with autumn leaves and golden rods for the event. The bride wore white, the groom the conventional black.
After visiting Chicago and points in Illinois, the young people will make their home in Minneapolis. Both the contracting parties are well and favorably known in Brainerd, and they carry with them the well wishes of a host of friends.

THE LABOR DAY PARADE
A Large Crowd on Hand to See Workers on Line of March
MAKE IMPOSING APPEARANCE
Judge Stanton, of Bemidji, and Morris Kaplan, of Duluth Deliver Addresses

Labor Day was duly celebrated in this city yesterday, the excellent weather adding much to march, music and exercises generally, and the immense crowds on street curb and corner, of men women and children, lent an attractiveness that made it doubly interesting.

The column was formed for the parade on Third and Kindred streets at 9 o'clock a. m., proceeded west to Kingwood, thence west on Kingwood to Broadway, south on Broadway to Laurel, west on Laurel to Sixth, north on Sixth to Kingwood, where the speakers' stand had been placed for the orators to address the crowd.

The crowd in the line of march was not as large as in former years for some reason or other, many being of the impression that prizes which had been offered in previous years had had much to do in swelling the numbers, but not being in the arrangements this year had depleted the ranks which was in evidence yesterday. Those who were in the parade, however, made a fine and imposing appearance. The two hundred who were in the march were composed of machinists, moulders and helpers, with a beautifully decorated float drawn by four horses containing about 40 merry maidens carrying the banner of the Iron Moulders Union. This with a small float advertising Brainerd's new milling industry, "Roman Flour," constituted the parade. The Brainerd Juvenile band led the parade playing some very fine march music.

The addresses of the day were of high order, and as expected, made quite a contrast. After a few preliminary remarks, the chairman, R. A. Henning, introduced the first speaker, Judge C. W. Stanton, of Bemidji, who in fine voice delivered a most judicial address showing much thought and an excellent understanding of law, labor and capital, and the applause given by the large crowd proved conclusively that his arguments went home to the heads and hearts of his hearers. He said in part:

"I am not unmindful of the significance of this day and of its importance to the laboring people of this country; and I assure you that I keenly appreciate the privilege and the honor of participating with you in its proper observance, and, my friends, I am especially gratified at your kind invitation to address you today because of the official position which it is my honor to hold and because of the assurance which your invitation to me silently gives that you welcome a discussion of the questions that are uppermost in your minds, by one who is not a member of any labor organization.

"While it has always been my lot to be a laborer—first on the farm and in various capacities as a manual worker and later in my profession—my occupation has never been such as to bring me into close association with union labor. My knowledge, therefore, of labor organizations—their history, their objects and their attainments—has been acquired by observation and study, rather than by personal experience.

"America is a nation of workers. Our mines, soil forests and waterways have been developed to a degree that elicits wonder; our manufacturing and business enterprises have amazed commercial nations already alarmed by the rapid expansion of our foreign trade; our professional genius has attracted world wide admiration; the American artisan has surpassed those of every other country by attaining the highest standard of skill—and all because we are a nation of ambitious, determined, intelligent workers.

"But our contemplation of the expansive field of labor and of its importance as a factor in the development of this great nation is unsatisfactory and is not complete until we take into consideration and stop to comprehend the prominent part taken by organized labor, at least in recent years."

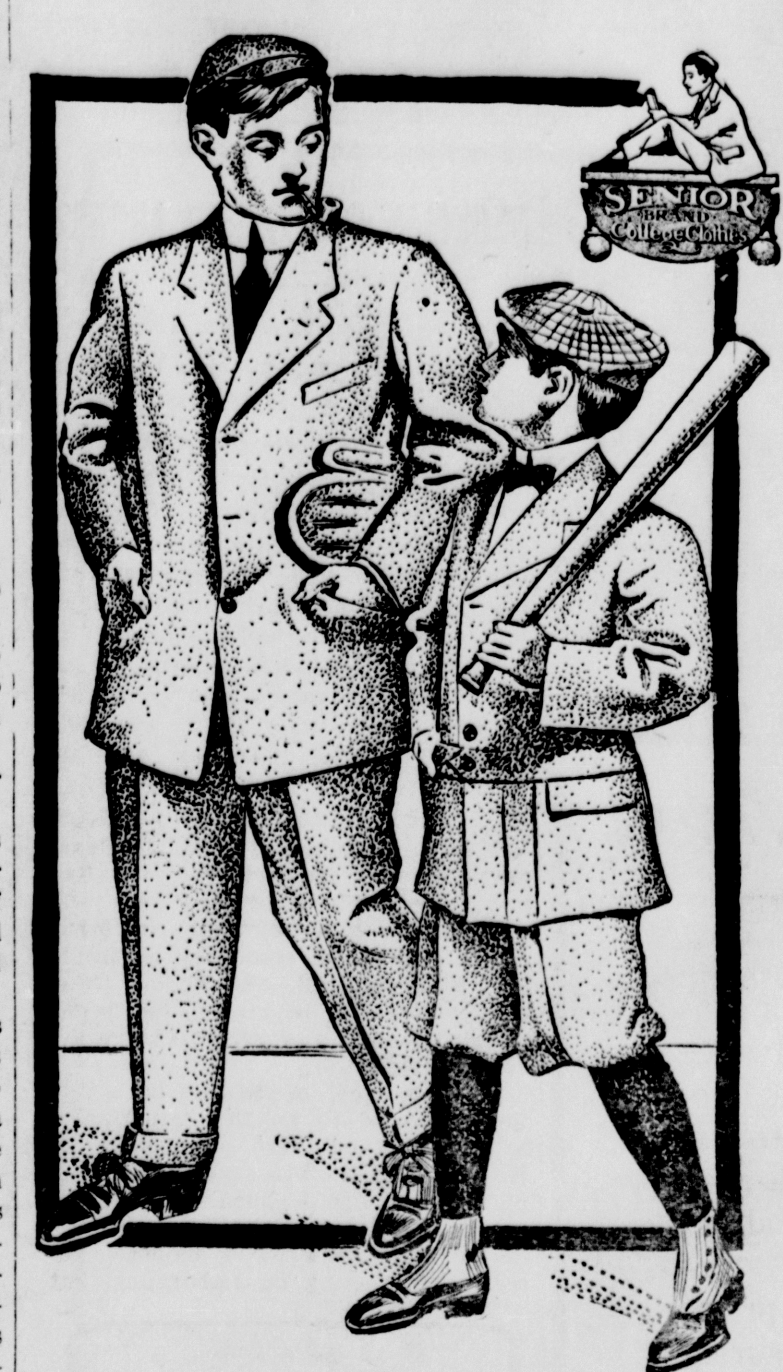

The speaker then traced the history of organized labor, from its birth in 1741 to the present day of universal organization. He then enumerated the many benefits that have sprung from organization, such as shorter hours, increased wages, better sanitary conditions of mills, factories, etc.

Concerning the rights of organized labor, he said:

"It is now well settled in this country and in England, that a person has the right to work for or with whom he pleases; that he may refuse to work for or with whom he pleases; that he may refuse to work for or deal with any man or class of men, as he sees fit; and that what he may legally do alone, he may combine with others to do.

"Legislatures, as well as the courts, now recognize the right of laboring people to organize for the purpose of promoting their common welfare, elevating their standard of skill, advancing and maintaining their wages, fixing the hours of labor and the rate of wages, and to do and refrain from doing many things that combine to enlarge and make more enjoyable the sphere of the working man, and I have no doubt, my friends, that many of these enactments have been brought about by the efforts of laboring men through their organizations."

After Judge Stanton's address, the chairman introduced Morris Kaplan, of Duluth, a business man, who gave a very fluent address, covering a large area of thought, showing the interdependence of the various departments of labor's world, the various points of statutory and constitutional law, wherein, in his judgment, the sense of judgment miscarried, and an earnest plea for the sacred rights of labor and the cause of much poverty in the world. The audience listened very attentively to his message, and it elicited applause, Mr. Kaplan said in part:

"Government is an institution organized by the property possessors to defend, protect and perpetuate their ownership. To repel invasion from without and guard against insurrection from within the state or nation. It is the exclusive instrument of the have's against the have-nots. Government never yet has functioned for any other purpose than as the tool of property interests. No man under the law can be deprived of his property rights and every man under the law has the right of demanding from the state, that has property interests to be protected against any danger that he has or fear may result from any conflict between capitalists and laborers. Under the law every man has a right to be a small storekeeper or a corporation magnate worth millions and to expect protection by the state to his legal holdings. The property owner is the only tax payer in the community. Taxes are levied upon property, and not upon men. The object of taxation is to maintain a machine (State) to control affairs that bear upon property relationship. Jails are intended to house property right violators. Lawyers have been evolved as an essential requisite to the system. Ninety per cent of criminality is resultant from difference over questions of property.

"Turn whichever way you will, the real facts stare you in the face; you cannot get away from them. Do you want to rid yourselves of injunction processes, of child labor, of women competing with you for jobs? Then you must change the fundamental law of the land. Do you want to furnish work for the unemployed? Do you want to reduce the hours of employment? Do you want to eliminate the uncertainty and anxiety of the morrow? Do you want to be sure of being able to provide food, clothing and a home for your dependents? There is just one remedy, only one. That remedy implies and anticipates the Collective Ownership by all the people, of the lands, mines, mills, factories, railroads, telegraphs, and every other social utility in the nation."

The ball which was given at Gardner's hall in the evening was largely attended and the promenade concert given by the Juvenile band before the ball was greatly appreciated by a large concourse of people.

Bijou
The program at this popular place of amusement this week is excellent, the strong feature in the living pictures, is "An Indian's Honor" 1500 feet in length. All the characters of this production are those familiar with western life, who interest and hold the audience from start to finish. This picture is not the only strong feature, the work of Cooke and Myers "The Acrobatic Dutchman and the Dancing Girl" are making a decided hit. Speed and noise are the two essentials of Cooke and Myers entertainment. No more gingers or snappy pair have been seen here for some time, in fact the entertainment must be seen to be appreciated and will be repeated tonight and Wednesday.

The amusement public was entertained by a very pleasant program at the Unique yesterday afternoon and evening. The headliner, "Dieppe Circuit Race" is a film 1,250 feet long, showing an exciting auto race. It is indeed thrilling to see the autos go at top speed around sharp curves such as the hairpin curve on the Vanderbilt circuit. Other films were "A Tragedy in Japan" taken from real life, and "A Husband Wanted," a comedy film. "The Last Voyage" is the illustrated song, and is sweetly sung by Miss Graham.

A Mighty Eruption.
It has been calculated that the quantity of solid matter ejected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in the strait of Sunda, in August, 1883, was 4.14 cubic miles. To give some idea of the enormous volume this represents we may take the following illustration: The largest of the pyramids of Egypt, known as the Great Pyramid, contains about 82,000,000 cubic feet of masonry. It would therefore take about 7,390 of such structures to equal in bulk the matter that was thrown out by this eruption.—New York American.

FIGHT ENDS IN A DRAW.

Moran and Attel Unable to Settle Question of Supremacy.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—Abe Attel, the champion featherweight of America, and Owen Moran, England's premier boxer in the same division, fought a draw battle at the Colma open air arena in the presence of about 6,000 spectators. The battle lasted twenty-three rounds and at its conclusion Referee Jack Welsh unhesitatingly grasped both lads by the hand, signifying that the fight was a draw. The decision seemed to please the crowd and there were cheers for each fighter as he wended his way from the ringside. The fight, on the whole, was rather tame, but this was offset by the cleverness of both fighters. It was a very even one and was marked by Moran's aggressiveness and Attel's cleverness in blocking and his all-round work from a defense standpoint. The consensus of opinion would seem to indicate, however, that the Californian did not show his best form of former contests, and that he lacks the dazzling speed which has made him a marvel of cleverness.

After the fight Owen Moran declared:

"I broke my right hand in the second round. After that it was almost useless. At that I think I won by a mile. I am willing to fight Attel forty-five rounds, winner to take all."

An examination showed Moran's hand to be badly swollen.

"What caused that awkward break in the conversation?"
"Some one dropped the subject."—Argonaut.

Twitching of the Nerves

Became almost unbearable until Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills brought about a cure.

Tapping of the fingers, restlessness, sleeplessness, inability to control the nerves.

What a story of exhausted nerves is told by these symptoms. Nervous prostration and paralysis are not far away unless restorative treatment is used.

The writer of this letter was fortunate enough to learn about Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and tells his experience for the benefit of other sufferers from diseases of the nerves.

Mr. I. W. OAKLEY, Montrose, Pa. writes:—"I was troubled with nervous exhaustion for several years and was so nervous I could not lie in bed but would walk the floor and my nerves would draw and twitch until I was almost wild. I tried all sorts of medicines in vain until I used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. Six boxes cured me and the old trouble never returned. I am very grateful to say."

Exciting Scene Occurs at Meeting in New York.

New York, Sept. 8.—An attempt was made to turn a meeting of unemployed workmen into an anarchistic demonstration and for half an hour the meeting hall in Cooper Union, where the meeting took place, was the scene of wild excitement, during which red flags were raised, the police denounced and incendiary speeches made. Alexander Berkman, the anarchist who some years ago shot Henry C. Frick, a steel company official, during the Homestead strike in Pennsylvania, was dragged from the hall and locked up by the police. A young woman who gave her name as "Mary Smith" and who stood by Berkman, was also arrested, and Emma Goldman, recognized leader of the "reds" in this country, was made to leave the hall.

J. Eads How of St. Louis, sometimes alluded to as the "millionaire hobo," planned the demonstration. He and other officers of the Unemployed and Brotherhood Welfare association had for some time been making arrangements for a monster parade and meeting on Labor day, but when the parade formed there were less than 1,000 in line. The police say they recognized many anarchists in line, among them some who attended the meeting in Union square last spring, when a bomb was thrown at the police which killed a spectator and fatally wounded the bomb-thrower himself.

Had the Marseillaise Played.

As the parade drew up in front of Cooper Union a well dressed man stepped to the side of Mr. How and asked him to have the band play the Marseillaise. Mr. How referred the man to the leader of the band. As the air was not on the programme the man gave the leader $1 to play it.

It was the playing of this air, identified in past times with so much bloodshed, that started the trouble. As soon as the crowd had gathered in the hall the band began to play the Marseillaise and in an instant nearly everyone jumped to his feet, cheering and stamping on the floor. Red flags appeared, but the police quickly made the holders of these put them away.

Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman entered the hall at this juncture and took seats near the platform. Dr. Ben Reitman of Minneapolis, who calls himself "King of the Hoboes," and who was one of the first speakers, announced that his speech had been written by Emma Goldman. This brought forth cheering. Dr. Reitman urged the unemployed to cease submitting to labor. He denounced institutions and said there should be fewer thousands expended in the maintenance of churches and the police and the money should be expended in caring for the unemployed.

Charles Oberwager, a former president of the Central Federated union, was next introduced. He denounced the preceding speaker, declaring Dr. Reitman had preached the doctrines of anarchy. This caused an outburst and Berkman sprang to his feet and demanded to be allowed to take the platform to defend the anarchistic doctrines in which he believes. Policemen swarmed through the hall and ordered the disturbers to be quiet, while several bluecoats surrounded Berkman. Emma Goldman tried to reach his side, but she was stopped and told to leave the hall or she would be arrested. She obeyed. Then "Mary Smith" fought her way to Berkman's side and urged him to take the platform. Berkman tried to do this and was arrested. The crowd closed in about the policemen and for a moment it looked as though a rescue might be attempted, but Berkman said nothing to urge his followers on. "Mary Smith" and Berkman were taken to a police station, where they were locked up charged with disorderly conduct and inciting a riot.

Republican Candidate Starts on a Tour of Ohio.

Sandusky, O., Sept. 8.—William H. Taft has begun his journey from the fishing grounds of Middle Bass Island to the activities of his campaign at Cincinnati, where he will arrive after a speechmaking trip through the state. The Taft family is quartered at the home of Edward H. Marsh, a college friend of the candidate. The feature of the day, which was one of varied travel by boat, automobile and trolley, was the visit to the home and tomb of the late President Rutherford B. Hayes at Spiegel Grove, near Fremont. Here the party were the guests of Colonel Webb Hayes, who was assisted in entertaining by his sister, Mrs. Fannie Hayes Smith, and her husband, Professor Smith of the United States naval academy; Burchard A. Hayes, oldest son of President and Mrs. Hayes, and other members of the family and friends.

When the candidate landed he was heartily received by the residents of Port Clinton, where he made a very brief address from the deck of Commodore Richardson's yacht Jessamine on which the sail was made from the Middle Bass club.

The importance politically of the meeting to be held in the theater here has been accentuated by the assurance received here that former Governor Herrick will speak on the subject of the guarantee of bank deposits by the government, on which he takes the ground that such guarantees would be another form of monopoly. General Keifer will also speak at this meeting on the subject of the tariff, and General Henry C. Corbin is also scheduled for remarks.

Judge Taft will address the old soldiers in a historical speech here.

FRENCH FORCE DEFEATS ARABS

Hundreds of the Tribesmen Are Killed in Battle.

Colomb-Bechar, Sept. 8.—Dispatches received here from Colonel Allix, the commander of the reinforcements that went to the relief of Boudenh, a French post on the Algerian frontier, where the small garrison was surrounded by Moors and in danger of annihilation, state that he has completely crushed the Beraber tribesmen, estimated at from 15,000 to 20,000, capturing their camp and all equipment.

The column of 5,000 men under Colonel Allix marched out from Boudenh in the direction of the enemy's camp at Djorf. When half the distance had been traversed, the French encountered the Arabs, who with reckless courage hurled themselves upon the front and flanks simultaneously, seeking to cut off Boudenh, but the artillery kept up a terrible fire, in the face of which the Arabs were unable to approach to close quarters.

They returned again and again to the charge, leaving their dead in heaps, but finally became discouraged and retired. Colonel Allix followed up his advantage and occupied the camp, completely routing the enemy, who dispersed in all directions, hotly pursued by the French cavalry. The total French loss was Lieutenant Schwartz of the Third sharpshooters and twenty-one others wounded, of whom only three were seriously hurt. The enemy's loss totals far into the hundreds.

Kills His Cousin and Himself.

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 8.—John Fischer, a farmer, aged twenty-three years, residing near here, shot and killed his cousin, Mary Fischer, aged eighteen, and then killed himself. Fischer was desirous of marrying the girl, but had been rejected.

PLAN TO AID WORKMEN

New Compensation Law That Affects Government Employees.

FOR BENEFIT OF INJURED MEN

About Seventy-five Thousand Come Within the Provisions of the Edict. Its Administration Is in Hands of Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

The act of May 30, 1908, "granting to certain employees of the United States the right to receive from it compensation for injuries sustained in the course of their employment," which came into effect on Aug. 1, is a measure of great importance in the domain of labor legislation.

Under previous laws compensation in case of injury is paid to employees in the railway mail service and in the life saving service. The new law applies to persons employed by the government as artisans or laborers in the following services: Arsenal, navy yards, river and harbor construction, fortification construction, hazardous employment in the reclamation service—namely, in construction and in control and management of works; hazardous employment under the isthmian canal commission and in government manufacturing establishments.

According to a rough estimate made by the department of commerce and labor, about 75,000 government employees come within the provisions of the law. Compensation will be paid under this act only for such injuries to an employee as occur in the course of his employment and cause inability to pursue his employment for more than fifteen days, says the New York Post. Compensation will not be paid if the injury is due to the negligence or misconduct of the employee. The act applies only to injuries received on or after Aug. 1.

Compensation consists of a continuance during the period of disability, but not over one year, of the same pay which the employee was receiving at the time of the injury. If the employee is killed by the accident or dies from the results of the injury received and leaves a widow or children under sixteen years of age or dependent parents, the same amount of compensation is paid to these relatives until the completion of the twelve months' period.

The administration of the act is entrusted to the secretary of commerce and labor. All questions of negligence or misconduct are to be determined by him, and in case of death from injury the distribution of the compensation among dependent relatives must be made according to his orders.

No compensation will be paid either for injury or for death unless application for it is made. This application must be made by the injured employee or in case of death by his dependents and forwarded by the official superior of the injured employee, accompanied by a physician's certificate, through the regular official channels to the secretary of commerce and labor. The secretary is authorized to demand additional information or order such investigation as is necessary for the proper administration of the law.

Regulations have been prepared for the guidance of officials and employees in the government service. According to these regulations, reports of injuries must be made by the official superior of the employee to the secretary of commerce and labor not later than the second day after the accident. Application for compensation must be made as soon as possible after the first fifteen days of disability. If the application is approved, the compensation will be paid during disability, but for a period not exceeding six months, at the end of which period the injured person must make application for re-examination by a physician provided by the secretary, and after this examination has been reported a new approval by the secretary for further payment of compensation is necessary.

The records of the application of this act will furnish valuable material for statistics of accidents, which for the United States are meager. In order to make the statistics more complete and valuable, reports of all accidental injuries to government employees regardless of the application of the act have been requested from all government establishments and offices.
